

Your Year End Gift Helps Families Begin their Journey

The first five years of a child's life have a profound impact. When children with developmental delays receive timely, targeted interventions, they develop and strengthen the skills that allow them to maximize their potential. Speech therapy helps children communicate effectively. Occupational therapy develops fine motor skills essential for writing and self-care. Physical therapy builds strength and coordination.

Early intervention strengthens families and communities.

Access to high-quality programs and services can be life-changing. When families begin their journey for services they are often overwhelmed by the complexity of their child's needs, and struggle to find an appropriate setting. At Easterseals, we meet families where they are, to support these essential needs and give parents the chance for respite and the ability to work and sustain their households. The impact of our services extends far beyond the child.

During times of uncertainty, your gift can help ensure children and families continue to access these vital services.

Driving Change One Swing at a Time

CENTURY 21 Advantage Gold

Thanks to our partners at Century 21 Advantage Gold, over 100 golfers hit the links at Five Ponds Golf Course in Warminster on September 26th. It was a beautiful day for real estate, development, insurance, and financial professionals to network and enjoy some friendly competition while raising $35,000 to support Easterseals programs and services!

Halloween Success

This Halloween, students had the opportunity to put on their costumes, parade around their building, and have parties in their classrooms. Families were invited to share the experience and the success with their child.

Enjoying typical childhood experiences plays an important role in a child's social-emotional health. For children with disabilities and their families, these experiences can feel out of reach. At Easterseals, our teachers and therapists work to help every child develop the skills that allow them to find success in the simple pleasures of childhood.

Joining Forces in Philadelphia

This summer we merged our Philadelphia program centers. The consolidation allows us to reduce costs, and restructure programs to ensure an effective and efficient approach to serving a child's needs.

Now all of our Philadelphia programs have combined in our center on Allegheny Avenue. While the classrooms may look different, our work to help children and families find success in their journey remains the same. Come by for a visit!
